

Other Flesh and Bone

By Alan Kim Cochran

Electric: Open FX #36 Beat #74 @ 66 bpm

Acoustic: Capo 4th – No Drums

Em CM
Through the drifting dusts of Summer

Em CM
In the vagrant light of dawn

Em CM
'Wolves a-howling on since midnight

Em CM
By the morning all are gone

Em CM
And out there, on the horizon

Em CM
A ragged hero rides alone

Em CM
To the master's adamantine tower

Em CM
To the pillar made of stone

Em CM
And the morning rays upon his lance

Em CM
Telling all, the day has come

Em CM
And the burnished sheen upon his shield

Em CM
Master gone when day is done

Em DM
So cold the heart of those who prey on

Am Em
Other flesh and bone

CM Em CM
Other flesh and bone

Am (high) Bm
 But the rose flower blooms sweet and sound
 Em Em
 In the ashes of the past
 Am (high) Bm
 Where beauty, truth, and light are found
 Em Em
 And the time for war has passed
 Am DM Em
 Rule the day!
 Am DM Em
 Rule the day!

Em CM
 From his tower, the Oppressor falls
 Em CM
 He was never meant to stay
 Em CM
 The iron fist, the gauntlet hand,
 Em CM
 That breaks upon the day

Em CM
 Down to ash, his kingdom bright
 Em CM
 His dominion overthrown
 Em CM
 As the star falls in the night
 Em CM
 So, the land he called his own

Em DM
 So cold the heart of those who prey on
 Am Em
 Other flesh and bone
 CM Em CM
 Other flesh and bone

-chorus-

Em CM
 And out there, on the horizon
 Em CM
 A ragged hero rides alone
 Em CM
 To a master's adamantine tower

Em CM

'Another pillar made of stone

Em DM

Cold the heart of those who prey on

Am Em

Other flesh and bone

CM Em

Other flesh and bone

CM Em

Other flesh and bone